British Films Going Strong

Most Canadians are pleased to know that British-made films improve in quality, and that the British industry prospers abundantly. We base this statement upon reports brought back from England by returning Canadians and upon frank admissions published in United States trade journals. Mr. Walter Wanger, vice-president of the Columbia Pictures Corporation, interviewed by the Film Daily, an influential United States trade organ, is quoted as saying:

"It might be well to note that although the American industry has made little progress through this period of world depression, enormous profits have been made in England by producers, distributors and exhibitors. Should this situation make us think? Those in control of production do not seem to realize that there is an entirely new world point of view which has to be met in picture production. This changed viewpoint radically affects the type of entertainment that must be furnished, as well as the attitude of the audience. Artistically, the business must improve."

The quality of restraint and wholesomeness, observable in many Old Country films, is one that recommends them to Canadian patrons.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Something Lacking Here

The end of the limit seems to have been reached when a man in Montreal was sent to jail for 15 days because he begged a cigarette from a more fortunate individual. Somehow that rubs heavily against the grain of a normal person.

This man certainly was more shamed against than sinning and the citizen who "turned him in" apparently had completely forgotten the Biblical quotation, "It is more blessed to give than to receive" while his accuser apparently went on the Biblical assumption of "Ask and it shall be given unto you."

If this thing is carried too far we know a great number of office "friends" who will shortly be on the inside looking out!—Kitchener Daily Record.

The Bacon Quota

The Ottawa agreements provide for free entry into Britain of 250,000,000 pounds of Canadian bacon "of good quality." "Good quality" means the grade known in Canada as "select," and year Canada only produced one-fifth of the number of hogs required to supply this quota of "good quality" bacon.

These figures are given to show the danger of the industry's idea of the huge task facing departments of agriculture, packers, breeders and farmers if Canada is to take full advantage of this important concession. Already an intensive campaign towards hog improvement has been undertaken by the departments here and in Toronto. A revolution within the industry will be required. Breeders are faced with low prices for bacon in Britain, the exchange and other major considerations but leaders in the industry claim the bacon quota can be worked out to the advantage of the Canadian farmer if only sufficient co-operation and good will are shown by all concerned.—Ottawa Journal.

Radio Licenses

A total of 544,129 radio receiving licenses have been issued by the Canadian Government Radio Branch from April 1 to September 30, 1932, or approximately one to every eighteen persons of the population of the Dominion.—Acton Free Press.

Comeback For the Horse

The horse will reap a great force as the motive power for urban and suburban street and road transportation, if a certain British organization has its way. That organization, founded to further the interest of the breeder and user of the horse and only, is known as the National Horse Association of Great Britain. At the request of various bodies commercially interested in the maintenance of horse traffic, it is conducting an active propaganda for the encouragement of the use of horses for transport purposes, and is meeting with support and co-operation from firms with large deliveries to make.—Welland-Free Press.

Helpful Reading

A fondness for good books doesn't just happen. It must be cultivated in the child, as well as in the adult who did not acquire it in his youth or lost it in the transition from youth to maturity. Homes with good libraries well-read by adult members of the family seldom are the scene of juvenile revolt against helpful reading.—Barnia Canadian-Observer.

The World's Banker

Even imprudent people are compelled to be thrifty on the land. They cannot in actual fact get to the end of their resources, for a hand-to-mouth life is impossible for them. The process of farming makes the farmer place his investments in the soil.

Every improvement to his land, every grain of seed, every furrow, every sod of earth raised is a sort of deposit in the bank which cannot fail, and in which one can draw cheques in kind, for the maintenance of life for a considerable period. Naturally, one has to work hard, but the earth is an employer which does not stint bread to its workers.—La Liberté, Winnipeg.

The Plowman

The plowman is the symbol of the countless men and women who have gone before us wrestling from the soil the means of sustained life and higher aspiration. He is the embodiment of all that is noble in human labor. Somehow, the hands that have guided a plow through the fresh-smelling earth are better for having done so.—Ottawa Citizen.

Supported by the Law

The British policeman is backed up by the law far more effectively than officers in some countries. When he makes an arrest there are not a thousand loopholes in the criminal law by which an unscrupulous lawyer can free his man. There are not a lot of criminals who go untouched because they have influence. The British policeman very truly represents "the majesty of the law." He does not, as a usual thing, need to carry a weapon with him.—Victoria Times.

THE EMPIRE

Idle Money

If millions of pounds of money stay to drift out of circulation—as they have been drifting out—and begin to pile up in the banks, clearly the consequences are going to be serious. Fewer goods will be bought because the money to buy them is less, by the amount lying unworked on deposit, and unemployment must rise. There is no other way of stimulating output and employment at the present time than by getting this money back into circulation.—London Daily Herald.

Dangerous Policy

The Japanese see China rapidly disintegrating before their eyes, and they ask themselves whether their best course is not to strive to save something from the ruins, and to mark out and secure at least one area which they can immunize from the surrounding contagion? It is a desperate policy, but it is intelligible to anybody who will admit that Japan's interests in China are more vital to her than the interests which the Shanghai defence force has established to protect her own interests in the city.

It is a dangerous policy, dangerous to Japan, because it tends to revive the prestige of the military caste, to strengthen the waning feudal ideology. Dangerous to civilization, because it creates on more septic focus in a disordered world.—Round Table, London.

Peace With Honor

The time for rapprochement between the Government and the Congress will come only when civil disobedience is definitely called off, and when there are guarantees which fully satisfy the Government that there will be no attempt to revive it in any shape or form. Even then, past experience cannot but make the Government cautious in accepting any overtures for peace that may come from the other side. India cannot afford to risk a repetition of the disastrous experience that followed the Irwin-Gandhi Pact.—Calcutta Englishman.

OTHER OPINIONS

Home Town Advertising

Mr. Merchant, the newspapers from the larger cities near your community are coming into the homes of your own customers these days with advertising columns bursting with announcements of real values.

If you will go to your home town newspaper advertising man he will help you with your advertising problems and make your advertising just as appealing to your customers as the "big city" advertising is. You, Mr. Merchant, have to keep that lead.

Local advertising has the jump on advertising that comes in from the outside, by properly utilizing the home town newspaper columns consistently and with careful attention to the preparing of copy.—Kenton, Ohio, News Republican.

No Change

The many Americans who are constant readers and admirers of Punch had naturally a moment of dismay when it was announced the other day that Sir Owen Seaman, who has been the editor for the last 28 years, was about to retire. But the fears that a new editor might give us a new, twentieth-century, wise-cracking Punch, a Punch of studied irreverence and gaiety—in the spirit of some of our contemporaries, notably in Germany and the United States—are happily set at rest. Sir Owen's successor is likely to be E. U. V. Knox, the "Evoc" that has long been signed to some of Punch's most delightful bits of satire and parody in prose and verse.—Boston Transcript.

Canada's Exports Up For October

$1,88,178 Increase as Compared to 1931—Trade Balance Off

Ottawa.—Canada's exports to foreign countries increased by $1,88,178 during October, according to figures released last week by the Department of National Revenue. The increase, compared with the figures for October, 1931, occurred chiefly in exports of wheat, the volume of which was more than double that of the same month last year.

Last month's exports had a value of $56,626,095, as against $55,377,917 for October, 1931. Re-exports were $534,279, compared with $996,982 for the same month last year.

A heavy decline in imports from $45,932,522 in October a year ago to $37,182,293 last month boosted Canada's export balance to $19,974,068.

Total trade for the month under review had a value of $94,808,388, as against $1,014,624,406 for October, 1931. Customs and excise revenues during October decreased by $1,612,516 from the same month a year ago. Revenues for last month were $16,34,004, and for October, 1931, $18,547,520.

An increase of $499,454 in income tax collections is shown. The total for October, 1931, was $525,443, and for last month, $1,254,858.

Searchlight To Carry Human Voices 25 Miles

Schenectady, N.Y.—A searchlight will carry human voices 25 miles into the Adirondacks when General Electric engineers renew their experiments with transmission of sound on light rays.

Focus—a powerful 36-inch searchlight northward upon a point in the mountains near Lake Desolation, engineers at the sending and receiving end will talk back and forth across the searchlight beam.

The rays will be collected upon a 30-inch concave mirror set up at the mountain lake, and there focused upon the mechanism which will reproduce the sound.

Head of Lakes Ships Tied Up

Blizzard of Mid-Winter Proportions Reported—Snow in West

Winnipeg.—The weatherman's week-end fare was varied. At the head of the lakes a blizzard of midwinter character swept the district Sunday night, resulting in a complete tie-up of lake shipping. Further snowfall was reported in Manitoba and Saskatchewan districts, while warming breezes and sunshine came to the foothills of Alberta on the tail of a Chinook wind. Temperatures Sunday were above the freezing point in Calgary.

Light Planes Can Be Made Cheaper Than Autos

Montreal.—Light airplanes were made in the same quantities as light automobiles last year, according to Adrian Comper, member of an English airway. "You have just an engine and a crankshaft. You have no clutch, no gears, no expensive rear axle. You haven't got springs, or four wheels with powerful brakes. Certainly a light airplane should be cheaper than a light car if made in the same quantities."

U.S. Industrial Production Exceeds August 10 P.C.

Washington.—Industrial production in the United States, including both manufactures and mining, was 10 per cent. larger in September than in August.

The Federal Reserve Board reported today that sharp increases in physical output in the recent months had been largely concentrated in the textile and leather industries but in September included meat packing products, steel and coal.

Canadian Takes Military Event

Roxana, Ridden by Lieut. Cleland, is First in Jump-off

Toronto.—Fast and brilliant competition between Irish Free State, Canadian and United States mounts who tied for first honors in the international military event at the Royal Winter Fair Horse Show was the climax to a fine program which was offered to a crowd which filled every available space in the Coliseum Saturday night.

In response to the warmth of the enthusiasm which greeted their appearance in the ring, all mounts appeared to be in their finest form, and jumping was exceptionally good. The course offered to the military mounts was difficult, a handy course including hazardous jumps, and of the 2 entries only three succeeded in clearing. The crowd showed keen delight that these were representatives of three countries: the fine chestnut Roxana, ridden by Lieut. Marshall Cleland of the Governor-General's Body Guard; the Irish Free State Silvernemon, ridden by Capt. Corry, and Ansonia, ridden by Lieut. E. F. Thompson of the United States.

Called back for a jump off, Roxana won the international event for the second time in the Winter Fair Show this year, by another clean performance. Silvernemon knocked the gate in the middle of the course.

Ansonia faltered at rails just preceding the gate and so took third place, the second going to the Irish horse, Tenace, ridden by Captain Clave of France, who had had the next best performance to those who had cleared the first time over the course, won the fourth ribbon.

The program throughout the evening had been of a high calibre and had included two other exciting jumping events as well as display, to celebrate Quebec night, of all prize-winning livestock entered by that province in the Fair. The Coliseum filled early in the evening, and by the time the first jumping contest, the Touch and Out State had been called, there was not even standing room available in the balcony.

The Touch and Out brought in 36 entries over a course so difficult, it was almost jumping was splendid, not one cleared. The first dozen, in fact, faltered at either first or second jumps and only four went as far as the fifth.

Coming near the last of the entries, Pompeian, a big chestnut owned by Mrs. McNeill Davis, Blyn Mawr, Pa., and ridden by Howard Lomis, won the first cheers of the night and took the stake when he went over all but the last obstacle before he faltered, took the second ribbon.

Canada's Meat Exports Show Marked Increase

Ottawa.—Exports of meats for the month of October were valued at $487,235, an increase of $31,269 as compared with $455,969 in the previous month, but a decrease of $86,113 when compared with the corresponding month of 1931 when the figures were $573,361, says a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The chief purchaser last month was the United Kingdom with $161,572. The value of meat exports for the 12 months ending October, says the report, was $4,721,594, as against $4,097,512 in the previous 12 months.

Grain Show Fees Reduced

Regina.—Fees for entry to the competitive classes of the world's grain show, Regina, 1933, have been reduced, from $5 to $3 and from $2 to $1.50, it was announced by grain show officials here last week. In classes for which the total prize money amounts to $5,400 or more the entry fee was formerly $5, and in all other classes $2.

U. of T. Student Found Dead

Body Clad in Girl's Underwear, in Rooming House Bed—Suffocation Is Blamed

Toronto, Nov. 21.—Clad in nothing but the stolen silken underclothing of a young woman roomer in the same house, Frank N. Cohen, formerly of Winnipeg, third year medical student at the University of Toronto, was found dead in his bed early Sunday night, apparently a victim of suffocation after the use of chloroform.

Police and the chief coroner at an early hour this morning were still probing the mysterious circumstances of the curious death and the bizarre clothing of the corpse.

A fellow-roomer in the same house on St. George Street, uncovered the tragedy when he went to Cohen's room to inquire into his non-appearance.

In the room, police found two bottles, one containing ether, the other chloroform. Chief Coroner Crawford reported that the ether had not been touched. Some of the chloroform had been used.

Investigation also showed that the underclothing was the property of the young woman aforementioned, who roomed in the same house. How it was taken from her room she could not explain. She said the garments were there on Saturday. She discovered they were missing early yesterday.

SUFFERED FROM MIGRAINE.

While unable to make a complete statement on the case last night, Coroner Crawford said he had learned that Cohen had suffered considerably from migraine, which causes intense, almost unbearable pain in the head.

The student may have used the chloroform to relieve the pain, the doctor said. While the autopsy had not been completed, he was inclined to believe that death was caused by suffocation after the anaesthetic had been taken.

Upset by the fatality, the woman in charge of the rooming house and fellow-roomers of Cohen's barred the door to all comers but police and the coroner.

"You must get everything from the coroner," was the reply to all questions.

SUFFOCATION BLAMED.

Dr. Crawford, in making his investigation, was of the opinion that suffocation by the pillows may have been the main cause of death.

Cohen, 24 years old, regarded among his friends as an over-sensitive type of youth, was last seen at midnight Saturday by students rooming in the same house with him. He was seen preparing to take a bath on the second floor of the house.

He had been to a restaurant on Spadina for a late supper. Although he left his rooming house with another student to go to the restaurant, he is believed to have returned unaccompanied.

Dr. Crawford found that Cohen was subject to attacks of migraine, which he described as a blinding headache. An acute attack of migraine, he admitted, might suffice to affect the victim's mind.

UNAWARE IT HAD GONE.

The girl whose underwear figures in the case was unaware of its disappearance until asked about it by investigating officials. No theory could be advanced to explain the youth's strange action in taking the clothes and wearing them.

Cohen's room on the second floor of the house had been locked all day with the blinds down. Anxious over his behavior, owing to a certain neurotic behavior, recent days, Percy Muir of Fort William, a second year Art student, forced the door and found the body.

Cohen, a member of a Jewish fraternity, apparently assumed the name of "Cowan" at the University, being registered as "Cowan" and so known to his friends. Coroner Crawford, however, last night insisted that the correct name was Cohen, and said that he had notified relatives in Winnipeg by that name, of the young man's death.

WORKED TOO HARD?

A fellow-student in his own year who had worked at the same desk with Cohen in the laboratory last year, J. K. Jernyn, believed he was attempting altogether too much work, and said that was the general feeling of the students who knew him. Mr. Jernyn stated that he was trying to get his junior F.R.C.S. next year, that he was working very hard and that he was inclined to worry over his work.

Occasionally, he seemed depressed when his jaw and teeth ached. No doctor had been able to clear up the awful pains which he suffered at times in his head, his fellow student said.

"Medical Discovery" Not New to Canada

Newly Announced Treatment in U.S. Already Used By Medical Profession Here in Thousands—Not Restricted by Patent

Montreal.—Compounds of copper and iron as a treatment for secondary anaemia, announced as a "new discovery" from Madison, Wis., are not new to Canadian medical men. According to local authorities, thousands of cases have already been successfully treated by this method in the Dominion.

Over three years ago, states John B. Frost, well-known director of laboratories here, experiments were conducted both in the laboratory and in a Montreal hospital clinic. As soon as the effectiveness of the iron-copper compound was sufficiently proved by actual test, it was made generally available to the medical profession in Canada. The technical name of the compound is ferro-catalytic.

Experiments in the clinic, Mr. Frost explained, showed clearly that the addition of copper to iron was effective as a treatment for secondary anaemia. Of the first ten cases, none of which had reacted to iron, all responded when copper was added. Thousands of cases have since been successfully treated, he added.

Chief interest in Canada in the American announcement lies in the fact that it is stated that patents have been taken out on this new U.S. discovery. Mr. Frost states that the Canadian public is fully protected as steps were taken at the time that the efficacy of the treatment was demonstrated here and a Dominion patent issued at the time.

In view of the importance of the discovery to the health of the general public Mr. Frost and his colleagues made it available for manufacture by any licensed pharmaceutical company without the payment of royalties.

Measles Treated Too Lightly

Declares French Professor

Measles is by no means a benign disease thinks the French professor Noequet, whose views are set forth in his book, Measles (Paris).

Measles, he fears, is on the increase. The deadly is malignant in the case of the mere babe, and if the child be less than a year old, the utmost caution is required. Parents take measles too lightly.

It is responsible for more deaths than diphtheria, whooping-cough, or scarletina. Then we get these further interesting facts:

"In one decade measles caused in Europe about a million fatalities. The heaviest comprised principally babies especially the youngest."

"How are we to account for the immunity of certain babies, and what is the effectiveness of such immunity? How long does it last?"

"Observation shows that mothers who have had measles impart immunity to their offspring."

"The immunity of the babe appears to be absolute during the first two months of its life, and practically so during the first three months. It would be relatively so during the fourth to the sixth month, but from the sixth month onward this immunity would wane."

"A babe whose mother never had measles is not immune. Some authorities affirm that the mother who nurses her babe imparts immunity to it up to month—that is, if the mother has had measles. If the mother has had measles within a certain brief period prior to the birth of the child, the babe apparently born immune."

PRINCIPLES

Strengthen the principle of personal life, for it is by the surplus of individual strength that energy can be manifested outside.

Monty's idea of a courageous and independent man is one who can go tirelessly through life with a full set of innards.

Tacks

How much alike people are in general outline, but how different in detail. If, as is said, Nature abhors a vacuum, why does she create so many? People who bury the hatchet don't need a marker to remember the burying place. Truth is stranger than fiction—also scarier and less interesting. Brimstone is the happiness of those noble and not think. Some women seek in all attention by trying to look field. There's something good, noble, about anyone who does his job well. Consider well your own faults and you will have less to say about the faults of others.

Get It Done

It isn't the job we intended to do, or the labor we've just begun, that puts us right on the balance sheet.

It's the work we have really done. Our credit is built upon things we do. The man who totals the biggest plus is the man who completes his work. Good intentions do not pay our bills. It's easy enough to plan. To wish is the play of an office boy. To do is the work of a man.

When a man buys a round trip ticket he thinks he's covered all the expense of the trip, but he forgets that his wife will have to buy a trunkful of new clothes.

Sandy—"How much to the station?" Taxi Driver—"Fifty cents, sir."

Sandy—"Does that include the charge for my bags?" Taxi Driver—"I'll take those for nothing."

Sandy—"Excellent. Then I'll walk."

"Everybody has more or less trouble."

"Yes," answered the observant woman. "If a man can't find anything else to worry him, he goes to a ball game and gets high; indignant at the umpire."

Evelyn—"Oh, Jack's so wonderful—he's generous, polite, self-sacrificing, modest, religious and extremely affectionate. He doesn't smoke, gamble, drink or look at other women. But, just my luck, he's married."

Mattie—"Don't worry, dearie; no woman will stay married to a freak like that."

Truth in a Notashell

The reason some folks never have any luck is because they spend too much time wishing on a load of hay, or looking at the moon over their right shoulder.

Mary—"I hear you intend to teach after you are graduated."

Carrie—"Yes, and I have the man already picked out."

A wealthy society lady had just engaged a new maid and was instructing her in the duties of waiting on the table.

Society Lady—"At dinner, Mary, you must remember always to serve from the left and take the plates from the right. Is that clear?"

New Maid—"Yes, ma'am. What's the matter, superstitious or something?"

Just the Thing

A minister delivered a sermon of only ten minutes duration. At the conclusion he explained: "I regret to inform you, brethren, that this morning my dog playfully ate the portion of my sermon that I have not delivered. Let us pray."

After the service a man who was a member of another church shook the preacher's hand and said: "I should like to know when that dog of yours has pups. I'd like one to give to our minister."

Old Lines for New Clothes

Like the horse you lead to water, you can coax a man into a new suit but you cannot get him to go out in it until his fancy as well as his figure conforms to the cut. So a decision just made public from the International Association of Clothing Designers' convention in New York seems a bad one. It is that peg-top trousers, accented waists and broad shoulders must return to men's wear.

The backward turn in styles for women has a widely revived recollection of the Gibson girl that an attempt to revive the order. But men feel funny that way. And if their tendency to cling to last year's fashions extends to other sections of the wardrobe, the clothing designers will have to employ some subtle designs to put over their latest idea of reform.

It might be argued, of course, that the peg-top trouser was popular for a number of years at Oxford and Cambridge. It might be pointed out that it doesn't really matter whether the superfluity in a pair of trousers is at the top or bottom, and that a generation that has learned to steer a clear course through society in bell-bottoms should be able to sail along in peg-tops without having to take a reef in them except in a heavy wind. As for the broad shoulders and accented waists—the arguments will have to fit the occasion and no less the individual.

The success or failure of the clothing designers to impose their will on the sterner sex must be left for future historians to discuss. The significance of their move, however, already is the basis of much philosophical comment. Does it portend a return to the good old peg-top ideas of yesterday? Are we about to adventure in the contentment of a simpler era? Only one thing is sure: Whoever habitually scoffs at his wife's submission to fashion's decrees will have to conceal his admiration for his neighbor's new broad shoulders—when, as and it paged—and will do well to keep forever out of peg-tops—if he can.—The Christian Science Monitor

Behind All Beauty

I cannot love the woods now,
All dim and fragrant where
The pines have dropped their needles;
For once I wandered there
And saw a baby rabbit
Held crying in a snare!

I cannot love the sea now,
However fair it be!
I heard a sailor's mother
Counting her graves at sea,
With fingers worn and wrinkled,
She counted three times three!

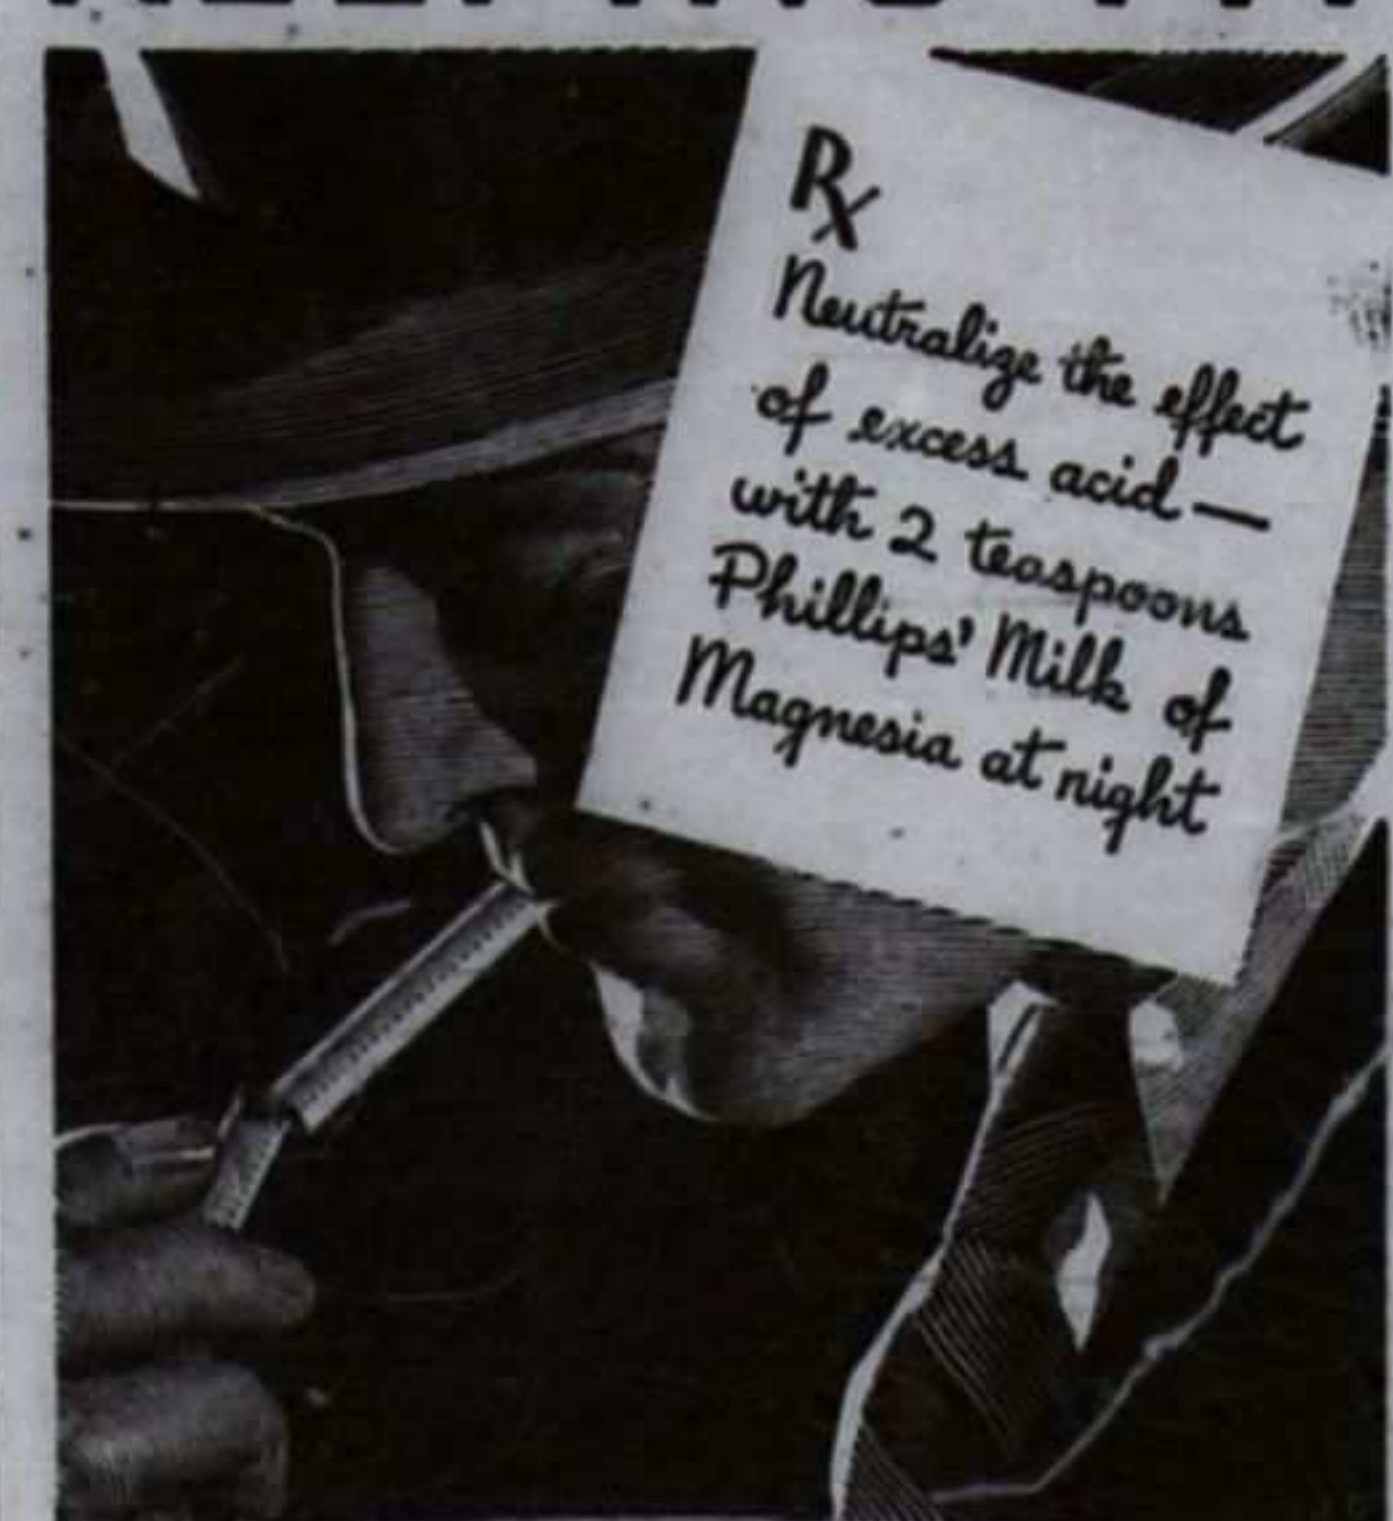

And so, because of pity,
Behind the wind and rain,
Behind the year's first roses,
Behind the ripening grain,
I know that past all beauty
There lies unvisioned pain!

Couldn't Walk a Step

Credit Given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills For Ending Severe Attack of Rheumatism

"My father, a man past middle life, was suddenly stricken with rheumatism in the knees," writes Mrs. James Mitchell, St. Catharines, Ont. "So severe was the attack that he was unable to take one step without assistance. We concluded that the trouble was constitutional, so we procured a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A decided improvement was noticed, and when three boxes had been taken the trouble had completely disappeared. He never had the slightest return of the rheumatism."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved wonderfully effective in numerous cases similar to this one. When the blood stream becomes thinned, rheumatism attacks the system. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually create an abundance of new blood cells, which enrich the blood stream and revitalize the entire system. They're highly recommended for ALL run-down or nervous conditions. They are a great help to growing girls. Get the Pills at your Druggist's. 50c package.

The big game hunter had just returned from an expedition and was telling a crowd of admiring friends and relatives his thrilling experiences. After a few stories of encounters with lions and elephants, he said: "Just before leaving I had the good fortune to shoot a man-eating crocodile."

His aunt looked horrified.

"But surely that was murder and quite unnecessary. Why shouldn't the poor man eat crocodile if he wanted to?"

IN TEARS WITH PAIN OF RHEUMATISM

"For six weeks," a woman writes, "I had rheumatism, mostly in my feet and wrists. In fact, I have been in tears with the pain. Owing to stomach trouble, I could not take any kind of medicine, as it made me feel sick. So a lady said I should try Kruschen Salts. I am very thankful that I did so, for now I feel completely restored. I have not been taking anything else, so it must be Kruschen that has relieved me."—Mrs. C.

The six mineral salts of Kruschen have a direct effect upon the whole bloodstream, neutralizing uric acid, which is the recognized cause of rheumatism. They also restore the eliminating organs to proper working order, and so prevent constipation, thereby checking the further formation of uric acid and other body poisons which undermine the health.

GRIMSBY BEACH SUNDAY SCHOOL

Interdenominational
Lesson 9, November 27. Stewardship of life.

Life would be a tragedy if it were not a stewardship. The fact that we are accountable to God, who created us for a definite and blessed purpose puts meaning and hope into all that we do in life. Christ's will is not only to save our souls for eternity but to save our present lives, in order that eternity may be the richer. Our part is to acknowledge that life is a stewardship, and live accordingly. St. Mark 1, 16-20.

Rev. Mr. Earchman of Grimsby United Church will address the school with a talk on "Stewardship of Life" on Sunday, November 27. Mr. and Mrs. H. Milligan will sing.

School opens at 2.30. Classes for all.

"Books—lighthouses erected in the great sea of time."—Whipple.

"The act of God injures no one."—Juvenal.

CITY OF HAMILTON WOULD BOOST FEE FOR TRANSIENT TRADERS

At a meeting of the property and license committee, Hamilton, a chamber of commerce deputation appeared to support the proposal of Ald. A. G. Gaul that the annual fee paid by transient traders for the privilege of doing business in Hamilton should be increased from $250 to $500. Ald. Gaul is waging his battle for an increased fee as a means of protecting Hamilton merchants.

Hamilton merchants are made to suffer from outside competition despite the fact that the pay heavy taxes that go to the upkeep of the municipality. The alderman has asked that there be a general listening up on the part of the law against the incursion of outside trader particularly at this season of the year when Hamilton storekeepers are going to get at least a decent break because of the Christmas rush.

Lincoln County Plowing Match
Best Ever Held—Competition
Was Keen

This annual event held on the John Cosby Farm near St. Anna, recently, was the best ever held in the county in point of members of plowmen and the weather was ideal bringing out a great following of the noble art of plowing.

In all there were 46 plowmen in the field, seven with tractor plow and the balance with horse drawn plows. This was three more than in 1931. The quality of the plowing was excellent considering the very dry soil conditions. Jas. MacLean, the Government Judge placed the awards and also gave an address in the evening at the St. Anna Hall where the banquet was put on by the W. I. of St. Anna and over 150 plowmen and visitors banqueted. Major Black of the Canadian Industries Ltd., was the guest speaker and short addresses were also given by A. G. Skinner, agricultural representative for Haldimand county, Herbert Copeland, reeve of Calverton, E. E. Reeve, Roland Lambert of Niagara, and others. Geo. Irvine of Grantham acted as chairman. John Hurd, the president assisted by the secretary, Walter Wilcox, and the agricultural representative, E. F. Neff, presented the prizes and silver trophies.

Plowmen from nearly all the adjoining counties were plowing in the open classes as well as five or six stalwart Indians from the Oshweken Reserve near Brantford. Some good plowing was done by the outsiders, who received good class prizes as well as one championship cup. John Doane of Paris, and Alex. Black of Guelph, were the highest bidders for the honor, while Lorne Marshall and Donald Bush were the best local Junior Farmers, each securing a cup for the best in their class. A. E. Some 35 boys and girls of the agricultural vocational school left by bus Tuesday morning on their annual trip to the Royal Winter fair.

The students were furnished with complimentary admission tickets through the kindness of J. B. Fairbairn, deputy minister of agriculture. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent on Saturday by a large number of friends of St. Alban's church, who attended the annual bazaar and tea at the Community hall. The attractive booths, where dainty hand work was displayed, and home-made confections were sold had a good patronage. From six o'clock until eight an appetizing supper was served.

Leonard Bonaccorso, truck driver, alleged to have committed a serious offense, came up last week in St. Catharines before the magistrate and a formal charge was read to him to which he pleaded not guilty.

He was represented by W. D. Burns, who requested a further remand of another week to which the crown acquiesced.

Damage around $60 was caused to cars owned by Lloyd Suckinger, of Grimsby and Harry Cullen of Glenora avenue, Toronto, on Wednesday evening last by a rear end smash, when the Toronto car is alleged to have hit the one being driven by Suckinger, a couple of miles this side of Grimsby. Charles Thompson and William Oimstead, released from custody on Monday at Simcoe, were brought to St. Catharines on Tuesday by Officers Jubine and Seymour, of Beamsville, to answer an alleged theft of 25 chickens from Wallace Galtier, of Clinton township, on October 13. It is stated that Galtier identified his flock in Hamilton with some 60 birds in their possession. Owing to the absence of the crown attorney, Magistrate Campbell traversed the case in til this Wednesday.

Benjamin Martin, a pioneer of the south section of Clinton township, died at his home near Tintern on Tuesday. Three sons and two daughters survive. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon to Vineland cemetery.

STONEY CREEK

The Made-in-Saltfleet exhibition, which was staged in the parish hall on Thursday afternoon and evening, was one of the most successful affairs of its kind to take place here since the days of the Stoney Creek fair, recalling memories to many of the exhibits in drill hall at that time and reviving hopes that Thursday's demonstration would mark the first annual show sponsored by the local branch of the Women's Institute. It was a happy idea that prompted the women of the district to inaugurate this novel method of letting the people see what the district produced, and from the numerous exhibits displayed, from factory, field and home, it proved that the idea had caught the fancy of the people. The hall looked very attractive in the institute colors, blue and gold, the large number of booths, with their varied displays and affable attendants creating a very fine impression.

One of the most popular booths was that of antiques and relics, many of the visitors enjoying the history and tales told regarding the articles on exhibit.

The toll-gate sign which hung on the post of the gate in the village when Albert Carpenter owned what is known as King street proved an object of much amusement to the younger generation, with the rates printed on it of "Team of horses 6c; single horse 3c; cattle 3c; score or more sheep, 3c."

The president, Mrs. W. E. Bowen, and her corps of willing workers came in for many words of well-deserved praise on the successful outcome of what was more or less of an experiment.

In the drawing contests that took place, Murray Uter won a quilt; R. Fluhrer, a Christmas cake; Avalon Galbraith, a laundry bag; W. Martineau, a bushel of apples, and J. A. Lottridge, a basket of apples. A substantial sum was realized, which exceeded the expectations of the organization.

The commencement exercises of the Saltfleet high school are being held on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week, in the parish hall here.

The W.M.S. members of the United church had as their speaker on Thursday afternoon Miss M. McLeod, sister of David McLeod, who for a number of years has been a missionary in Central India, and welcomed the opportunity of again meeting her.

Readings were given by Mrs. E. Platt and Mrs. S. H. McCombs, while Mrs. W. N. Langdon led in prayer. Mrs. J. H. Lee, president, presided.

Mrs. Lyle Nash, who was seriously injured in a motor accident on Wednesday, near Van Wagner's Beach, is making satisfactory progress towards recovery at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. Van Wagner, Gladstone avenue.

A very serious accident occurred on Wednesday afternoon last at the junction of Van Wagner's Beach road and highway No. 8A, when Mr. Lyle Nash, who was proceeding towards the village, driving a sedan, crashed into a truck head-on as he was negotiating the curve at this point.

The car she was driving was completely demolished, and she was badly injured, being taken to the hospital for medical attention. The greasy pavement caused her car to skid and career into the oncoming truck.

Last week the Men's association of the United church met and organized for the coming winter. C. E. Freeman was elected president; J. T. Chittick, first vice-president; R. L. Hyslop, second vice-president, and Rev. Henry Cotton, third vice-president. James M. Jackson was elected secretary-treasurer. A program committee was appointed, also a banquet committee. The first regular meeting will be held on November 29.

On December 14 it is expected that a community concert will be given in aid of the relief in the township, sponsored by this organization, in which all churches and other organizations will be asked to join.

Public Highway Transportation

That the steam railways would not benefit from restriction of motor coach traffic and that there is, therefore, no justification for increased taxation of interurban motor coach services, is the verdict of the Royal Commission on Railways and Transportation on the much vexed question of the relation between rail and highway passenger carriers.

Examination of the full text of the Commission's report, recently released from Ottawa, reveals that the recommendations regarding highway transport are much more significant than was indicated in initial news despatches. Some suggestions are made for further governmental control of motor truck traffic, but the existing status of the motor coach in the passenger field is completely justified.

The Commission finds that the motor coach is providing a satisfactory service of great social and economic value to the communities through which it operates; attributes the growth in its popularity to its greater convenience as compared with that of railway service, and declares that the effect of motor coach competition on railway passenger earnings has been relatively small when compared with that of the private motor car.

The report also states that a free and unhampered use of all forms of transport which demonstrate their efficiency is essential to the general welfare, and asserts that the railways in their own interest should co-operate with highway services rather than seek their restriction.

The section of the report dealing with taxation of the various types of road transport contradicts the theory that the motor coach uses a "subsidized" right of way, the Commissioners finding that the coach pays a fair share of the cost of the highway over which it operates.

After examining the evidence relating to the contention "that the motor coach was now paying more than its proper share of the cost of highway construction and maintenance," the Commission records its verdict as follows:

Though in the case of the motor truck next to be dealt with, it would appear that there is room for stricter regulation and for increased taxation; in the case of the motor coach there is little prospect of either by further taxation or increased regulation will the railroads benefit.

"There does not seem therefore to be any necessity to recommend additional taxation and regulation of motor coach operations in the interest of the steam railways of Canada."

Figures are quoted showing that the Gray Coach Lines in Ontario paid in 1931 highway taxes of $640 per coach or at the rate of $145.38 per annum for each mile of highway used which amounts, the Commission states are "at least a fair contribution for highway use and maintenance."

Motor Coaches Develop New Business

"Development of motor vehicle transport," continues the report, "has brought about a lasting revolution in the travel habits of the people, and in many respects has wrought a transformation in the economic and social life of the country. It has given facilities for transport never before enjoyed by the general public and has given trade and industry facilities of great and permanent value."

Discussing "the diversion of a considerable volume of traffic from the railways" by the motor vehicle, the report states:

"It is the private automobile which has mainly been responsible for the diversion of the bulk of the passenger traffic to the highways. Though the interurban traffic carried by these vehicles (motor coaches) is increasing, it has not yet in Canada assumed relatively large proportions. It is likely that the steam railways have already experienced the major effects of competition under this head, and the loss in this respect has not been as serious as is generally believed. A considerable portion of the traffic carried by motor coaches is new business which they have developed for themselves and which would not go to the railways if motor coach services on the highways were discontinued. Some areas are served that the railways do not touch, and the motor coach is also used by those who in default of its services would use the private motor car rather than the steam railway."

"In fairness to the road vehicle, it should be stated that the diversion of traffic from the railways to the highways is in many cases due to the fact that conveyances by road is intrinsically a more suitable form of transport, either because the convenience afforded by the road vehicle outweighs other considerations, or because it is definitely cheaper."

"It is essential that the country should have the free and unhampered use of the cheapest forms of transport and therefore no restrictions which would unfairly prejudice the road user should be imposed."

Arbitrary Restrictions Not Warranted

The Commission also condemns arbitrary restriction of highway traffic on the ground that even if it were attempted it would be effective only "to a relatively limited extent."

"In our view," the report continues, "the division of function as between roads and railways will not be best obtained through the arbitrary action of governments, but rather through the efforts of those engaged in the transportation industry. By concentrating less on mutual competition and by turning their energies to the co-ordination of the services they provide, a properly co-ordinated system of transport will be evolved. In our view the true function of road transport, in such a co-ordinated system, as auxiliary and complementary to the steam railways, would appear."

The Commission also recommends the use of the motor coaches for the handling of light passenger traffic and discounts the usefulness of single unit gas-electric and storage battery rail cars in this field. "The capital expenditure for these unit cars is out of all proportion to that of the motor coach, and costs of operation are greater. The motor coach could be used on the highway by the railways as a substitute for steam trains and for the purpose of giving more frequent service where the traffic is light."

Concerning the taxation of highway traffic in the broad sense, the Commission lays down the principle that "the amount of such taxation, including the tax on gasoline, should reflect a fair proportion of the cost of providing and maintaining highways," and adds: "A fair proportion would, in our opinion, be equivalent to two-thirds of the total cost in respect of highways in urban areas, while in the more undeveloped districts the proportion might be increased. As to the distribution over the various types of vehicles, it is suggested that the scales of taxation should be so adjusted as to fall with greater severity upon the heavy long distance traffic."

NO. 20 HIGHWAY OPENED

Mark Vaughan, M.L.A. for Welland, in introducing the minister of highways, declared that the famed Appian Way in Rome was nothing in comparison with the 20 highway.

Hon. Leopold Macaulay declared that the department of public highways has pride in the work the department supervised and which the contractors and material men accomplished. He stated that the highway had been built with two ideas in mind first, because the department knew they could get better value than ever before because of economic conditions, and second, to afford employment.

He commented on the fact that the job cost $21,000 a mile, which was fully 30 per cent less than the work could have been done a few years ago. He complimented the contractors and supply people in playing the game, stating that they had replenished their warehouses after the construction of the road. All material for the job, except the asphalt, was produced in the Peninsula. In addition to employment afforded 500 men on the road, others were engaged in the production of material and the railways were given 175,000 tons of material to haul. The wide shoulders and shallow ditches of the new highway, he said, would, where feasible, be incorporated in all provincial highways.

Hon. Mr. Macaulay paid a fine tribute to the permanent staff of the department, stating that they were the ones really responsible for the highways, making them the peer of any highways on the North American continent.

He commented on the construction of the Toronto-Hamilton highway, 1914-1917, and pointed out that it, too, had been constructed because of greater value and for the sake of employment. The new 20 highway, he said, would play as great a part in the history of the Niagara Peninsula as the road from Toronto to Hamilton played in the life of Ontario.

The speaker deplored the attitude of the defendants who are always ready to criticize everything that is offered. He reminded his hearers that it was not the faint-hearted or weak-hearted or weak-kneed that won the battle, that we always came out of a depression, and reached greater heights and that the time for the great act of courage was just at the turning point. There is no one, he said, but who should have courage and faith in the ultimate outcome. If we all pull together, not only for our own good, but also for the good of our country, there is no doubt that prosperity and happiness will return, not only to the Niagara District but to the whole of Ontario.

The contractors engaged on the work were then presented to the gathering, following which the chairman introduced Controller Sam Manson of Hamilton, and later Mayor Charles Swayze of Niagara Falls, Ont. The supply

"I'll tell them not to come"

The Gordons had looked forward to this evening for weeks; their Dunvale cousins were to motor over for an oldtime reunion.

Yet here was Dora in spite of her determination to see it through, fit for no place else but bed.

"Don't worry," said Harry, "they'll not have left yet. I'll telephone and tell them not to come. We'll make it next week instead."

NEW FIRM IN HAMILTON IS TO EMPLOY 50 HANDS

Col. H. D. Fearman, industrial commissioner, Hamilton, announces the opening of a new industry in Hamilton. The new firm, which is backed by Hamilton interests, has taken over 15,000 feet of space and two and one-half acres of land adjacent to the used in the box factory connected with the firm. An Ontario charter has been secured.

The company, known as the Monarch Mills, Ltd., will commence operations in the new year, employing between 50 and 60 hands. It will be what is known technically as a dry spinning plant.
